MAE MURRAY WILL PLAY IN FILM VERSION OF GREAT STAGE TRIUMPH

"Sweet Kitty Bellairs", on the Paramount Program, Will Be Seen at the Royal Theatre this Afternoon and Evening.

Mae Murray, beautiful photodramatic star, who recently created such a sensation in the Jesse L. Lasky production of "To Have and to Hold," will be seen at the Royal theatre today in the Lasky-Belasco photodramatization of David Belasco's famous play, "Sweet Kitty Bellairs."

The story has to do with the adventures of Mistress Kitty, the reigning beauty of Bath, the latter part of the eighteenth century. It is a Paramount Picture.

Lady Julia, bride of a few weeks, heartbroken over the infatuation of her husband, Sir Jasper, for Lady Barbara Flyte, calls Mistress Kitty in for advice. Mistress Kitty suggests that Lady Julia make her husband jealous and to this end gives her a ringlet of red hair and a tender mischievous which Mistress Kitty received that morning.

Lady Barbara is very anxious to overthrow Mistress Kitty as the reigning beauty and tells one of her ardent suitors, Captain Spicer, that she will accept his suit if he can create a scandal about Sweet Kitty.

On Ladies Day, when the Inniskillings Regiment from Dublin is the guest of the English 51st Regiment, Lieut. Verney falls madly in love with Kitty. Lady Julia sees her husband with Lady Barbara and faints in Verney's arms. Jasper, seeing this and reading the note which Kitty has given her, promptly challenges Verney to a duel. Kitty and Julia, realizing that Verney has nothing to do with it, call at Verney's rooms late that night to plead with him not to fight the duel.

Capt. Spicer hearing of this, induces the officers who are having a drinking bout at the barracks, to visit Verney's rooms. They force open the door and Kitty and Julia hide behind the draperies surrounding Verney's bed. Julia's slipper falls off and is recognized by her husband. He is about to run Verney through when Kitty appears, and Verney, to save her from disgrace, announces that she is to become his wife. Heavily cloaked and masked and wearing Kitty's clothes, Julia slips out—Kitty bears the disgrace. Capt. Spicer and Lady Barbara spread the scandal concerning Kitty and when she is to lead the dance at the ball, all the ladies leave the floor and Kitty is humiliated. Verney is requested to resign from the army if he marries Kitty, and she, to save him from disgrace, tells him that her acceptance of him was merely a joke. Subsequently they are happily married.

GOBLINS AND GHOSTS STALK MERRYMAKERS AT "Y" LAST EVENING

Biggest Success in History of Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. Is Held—1500 People Throng Big Institutions' Rooms.

That "The Goblins will get you if you don't watch out" held no fears for 1500 people of the Warren District who attended the most successful Halloween party ever held at the Y. M. C. A. last evening. The party is an annual affair, given by both the Young Women's Christian Association and the Young Men's Christian Association. It was under the direct charge of the social committees of the two organizations.

From the time when the doors were opened at 7:30 until 11 o'clock the corridors, gymnasium, locker rooms and upstairs of the institution were literally packed with merry-makers. About two hundred young people in fancy dress, fitting the occasion aided in making the affair an unqualified success.

Lobby and gym decorations, fitting the period of the year and more suggestive of the season somewhere in Iowa or the northern, middle west, were quite wonderful. The time-honored pumpkin, cut in jack-o-lantern shape, paper-fashioned lamps, suspended over the lights, corn in the husk, hanging from rafters and from chandeliers; and the spirit of the changing season from fall to winter; all were there except the snow and the balmy atmosphere which pervaded the entire party.

Stunts for the unwary were on every hand. "Watch your step" or "Safety First" was a needed and missing admonition upon first entrance.

"Stella," that far-famed work of art, which attracted and detracted from crowds at both expositions on the Pacific Coast, was one of the greatest shows on last night's Zone. Hundreds of the visitors looked "Stella" over and pronounced the likeness to be one of symmetry and of similarity. "Stella" was a creation of Rose O'Neill—a Kewpie—posing in a large box, in a dark room, where curiosity blended with the spirit of the occasion, made of it a Mecca for all.

And then the "Horror Chamber," Lest smiles of Rome's Catacombs or the morgue under the Guadalupe Church in Mexico City, or even Poe's "Murders in the Rue Morgue" fail; let the assertion rest that it was all wool and a yard wide. If you didn't go through, you should have.

In the gymnasium one of the features of the evening's entertainment was a blind boxing match. Boys were blindfolded and then turned loose with sixteen ounce gloves on their hands. In addition, a permanent and last one during the evening, was a Gypsy Fortune Telling Booth. What those young women did not tell would not be worth repeating. What one didn't think of an aid was there for the purpose of prompting. Another appreciated feat was the fancy rope jumping of H. A. McLaughlin, physical director of the Y. Mrs. Bradley gave a "Ghost Song" in admirable fashion.

Music was furnished by Charles Jewell's orchestra, which played for a grand march and a Virginia Reel. Food, prepared by that admirable

Halloween cook, C. C. Mitchell, was tasty and was tasted—fully. Secretary Richardson was at his best and gives credit to the committees for the great success of the evening.
